December is a layered bowl .

Happy thanksgiving to all

Novembers meeting had an attendance of 23 turners and one visitor, He being Roy Sheehy, hope to see him again.

The annual holiday get together will be held at the Pear Winery in Paso Robles on Sunday January 13th.
Gathering time will be at 1:00 PM

We will have a gift swap so be sure to turn something and that will insure that you receive something.
The cost for the meal is $20.00 each and you can send a check to

Bill Kandler
792 Phillips Road
Arroyo Grande, CA 93420

You can also bring a check to the December meeting.
Last year's luncheon was well received and should be better this year.

Spouses: be sure to bring your craft projects to show .

Our turnout for challenge projects was very poor, not in quality, but poor in QUANTITY. We must come up with an incentive to increase the number of participants.

On Saturday Gerald Davis showed us a few Bottle stoppers he created using his rose engine lathe along with his vase with the plastic tube to hold water and flower buds.

Kenny Moore presented his version of a candle holder using a glass chimney that he got at the last meeting it also included a Battery operated candle, NEAT

George Paes showed his candle holder turned from Goncalo Alves with the glass chimney.

Dan Ross showed a well designed and made bowl made from cut rings and layered in a very neat pattern. Dan is one of our newest turners and has taken to turning very well. Keep it going Dan.

That was it for Show and Tell and Challenge projects.

Be reminded that the challenge for December is a LAYERED BOWL, Dan you were a month early.

Gordon Rowland led us in a discussion on Centering Roughed out bowls and into the use of Vacuum Chucks. This will be described further at an upcoming Sawdust session, possibly in February. Good time to make notes of your questions.

Eric Holmquist, a good friend of CCW who visits us every December from Connecticut will be doing a demonstration of his work on Saturday December 1st at Chris Hanson's shop in Santa Ynez Here's his address.

3170 Country Rd

Santa Ynez, CA 93460

805-705-8846 for more info. Eric's work is piercing and coloring and demo is FREE

Eric's work is with piercing and coloring, this is a FREE demonstration.

If you have not yet read your e-mail regarding FREE Avacado wood, let me repeat. I have several pieces of Avacado that have been cut to varying sizes due to length of logs and they have been sealed. I do NOT think I can carry all to the next meeting so I suggest that if you desire a piece or two, come by my shop, Best to call ahead to insure someone is home.

FOR SALE: I have a 6" grinder with two fairly new wheels. It is a Central Machine, (Harbor Freight) runs smooth, needs a new home 1st $20.00 takes it away.

Back to the Challenge Projects and Show and Tell. I'm going to propose a new idea to the group for acceptance in hope of increasing the participation. We need to increase our production to show that we are turners and meeting attendees.
